The building is one of which Bay St. Louis can be justly proud and one which fills a long felt need. The location is in the central part of the city.

Being 48 x 76 feet, 6 inches, the building is one story and basement with mezzanine floor over matting vestibule and platform of granite, constructed of yellow-faced brick with limestone trimmings. Entrance steps and platform of granite.

The basement is 8 feet 6 inches high under the entire building to which access is gained from an area way on each side of building and by means of stairs inside. A loading platform is provided in rear of building for unloading and loading mails. A marquee furnishes shelter for trucks. Basement walls are of brick and floors of concrete.

The lobby of the building is entered through an entrance vestibule from Main street, has tile floor, base and wainscot and plastered walls and ceiling with a molded plastered cornice in the ceiling angle. Trimmings are quartered green. Lock box trays are on the east side of the lobby where approximately 300 boxes of the key type are located.

Postoffice screen faces the Main street entrance and is equipped with bronze grilles. Letter and package drops are in the east end of the screen. Lobby has two desks and three bulletin boards for posting information for the public. A work room occupies approximately 1822 square feet of floor space which includes the money order and registry division. The latter is separated from the work room by a wire mesh enclosure. The vault which is built of reinforced concrete and equipped with vault doors is in the enclosed space. The floor of the work room is of maple, sanded and waxed. There is a 14 foot ceiling in work room and a skylight directly over the screen counter, equipped with a special heat absorbing glass which permits entrance of light but transmits only about 42 per cent of the heat of sun rays. An electric water cooler is installed in the work room.

The finish in the work room is pine and the ceiling and walls are plaster, painted. Lighting is accomplished by means of pendant light fixtures each having a 200 watt lamp and each controlled by a separate switch.

Mezzanine floor is provided with locker space and rest room for the mail carriers. Windows are of cyprus as are the entrance doors. Postmaster's office which is in the south west corner of the building on the first floor is finished in green, with a pine floor sanded and waxed. Entrance to the office from the lobby is provided.

A boiler plant in the basement supplies steam for conveniently placed radiators throughout the various spaces. The sanitary system of building has a septic tank with a filter bed located in the rear of the property. Roof of building is flat of composition 5-ply roofing being used, with copper flashing.

Work on the post office started December 2, 1935 but was closed down December 14, 1935 until January 20, 1936 pending relocation of the building further from the property line along Main street, to permit of future widening of Main street.

Contractors were Dye & Mullings of Columbia, Miss. Architects Procurement Division, Treasury Department. L. R. Madison, construction engineer.

The new building was ready for occupancy July 1st but post office was unable to occupy on that date due to lack of equipment. All furniture and equipment for building is to be new.

A concrete driveway leads from Main street to rear of building where a 45 x 60 concrete area is provided for packing, unloading, etc.

Plumbing system is modern and two boiler rooms in first floor and mezzanine are provided. City water is used and electricity is furnished.

COLMER OPENS CAMPAIGN JULY 4 AT HATTIESBURG

Establishes Office at Gulfport, Miss.—Plans Active Campaign.

Congressman Bill Colmer opened his campaign for reelection Saturday, July 4th, at a big celebration at Hattiesburg sponsored by the Lions Club of that city.

While this was his first formal speech of the campaign, Congressman Colmer referred to his candidacy only in passing, choosing rather to review the progress that has been made toward national recovery during the past three and a half years. Defining the outstanding goals of the New Deal as the abolition of dire poverty and the equality of economic opportunity, he said that a grateful American people will not turn down President Roosevelt in his request for an opportunity to complete the task. While admitting that mistakes have been made and no doubt will be made in the future, he contrasted conditions today with the situation of three years ago and concluded that great strides have been made. In closing, he called on his hearers to rededicate themselves to the principles of the Declaration of Independence and "to press forward to the perfection of the principles of economic and political freedom" set out therein.

In regard to his candidacy he said that he was conscious of the political conspiracies that had been engaged in while he was in this post in Washington, but that he was "still young and enthusiastic enough to believe that, if a public servant will honestly and fearlessly perform his duties and keep the trust, the conspiracies of the politicians will yield to the superior will of the masses of the people and right will prevail." Emphasizing that he has no political or factional alliance other than his fealty to the Democratic Party, he said that he was basing his appeal for reelection solely upon his record of service. "For on that record," he said, "I am either entitled to reelection by a magnificent vote of confidence or to inglorious defeat."

Congressman Colmer last week opened his office at Gulfport, as in previous campaigns, to handle the campaign and the official correspondence and other business connected with his duties as Representative of the Sixth Congressional District of Mississippi. The office is in charge of Walter Batson and Miss Wilma Poyner, his regular office personnel.

The Congressman will make several speeches during the next two weeks, but will spend most of the time in traveling about renewing old acquaintances.

LIBRARY NOW OPEN AT NIGHT

For Benefit of Those Who Cannot Visit During Regular Hours

For the benefit of those whose occupations forbid them to make use of the Hancock County Free Library during regular hours, the Library will hereafter be open on Wednesday nights, from 7 to 9 p. m.

Since last report, the pay shelf is richer by the purchase of five books. Of these perhaps the most discussed is Weather in the Streets, by Rosamund Lehman, precocious author of some years ago of Dusty Answer. E. M. Delafield's Fester, Fester; Agatha Christie's A. B. C. Murders, The Wctor by Mary Roberts Rinehart and Ilyrian Spring by Ann Bridge are the others.

Somewhere in his California sketches, Robert Louis Stevenson told of watching a forest fire on the other side of Monterey Bay. He was high in the hills, in a shady grove of liveoaks. As he watched the distant blaze, his wet-weather, Scottish mind could not understand the evident speed with which the fire ran through the trees. Over his head hung a long beard of Spanish moss, and he began to wonder whether it would burn easily. Finally, instead of pulling off a bit and trying, he scratched a match and held it to the swaying gray-green streamer. As might be expected, the tree blazed at once like a Fourth of July flare, the interlocking branches spread the fire to the next tree and the next as he stood, paralyzed with fright. It came into his appalled mind that the previous day's paper had chronicled the summary shooting of a man caught lighting a forest fire. He fled; and still shaking with apprehension, from his hotel window that night watched the course of two fires—the original one across the bay and his own, near at hand.

Here in Mississippi, we are suffering a period of very dry weather, unusual and distressing. But consider what we would do if we shared the vaunted sunny weather of California. We once lived on Monterey Bay for some months. There was a great deal of fog; but our recollection of rain is confined to November. In no other month was there more than an occasional spatter, not enough to wet down the white dust of the roads. With weather like that the common thing, this verdant coast would be, even as California, at the mercy of any wandering Scot with an irresistible curiosity.

OFFICIAL VISITOR AT BAY CITY

District Home Demonstration Agent Spends Two Days in Hancock County

Mrs. Emma Lindsey District Home Demonstration Agent from Jackson, spent two days, July 2nd and 3rd in Hancock County. She attended demonstrations that were given in several communities by Jeanette Hunter, assistant demonstration agent. At these meetings Mrs. Lindsey talked to the women of the county concerning home demonstration work.

During this season of the year the farm people have a surplus of watermelons that might be utilized by the house wives. Given below is a recipe that will add variety to the diet as well as food stuffs that are essential.

Watermelon Relish
Cut the red meat of watermelon in inch cubes, remove seed, and squeeze to remove juice. (The juice serves with crushed ice and lemon juice makes a good drink.) Measure. For each 3 cupfuls of pulp use 1 1/2 cupfuls of sugar, 1/2 cupful of vinegar, 15 whole cloves and 1 1/2 sticks of cinnamon. Put to cook, and stir frequently until thick as preserves. Put into hot clean jars, and seal.

This makes a pint of fruit relish that will make a good substitute for cranberry sauce with the Christmas turkey.

Leetown Ladies Meet

The Leetown community women met July 1st at the home of Miss Emma Jane Campbell. Miss Jeanette Hunter, county demonstration agent met with them.

Miss Hunter demonstrated the making of watermelon relish. Everyone enjoyed the experiment. She will be with us again in August.

Mrs. Baker was elected as leader and Miss Emma Jane Campbell as reporter.

SALES TAX TOKENS WELL RECEIVED BY THE BUYING PUBLIC

Mr. Alf Stone, Chairman of State Tax Commission Thanks Newspapers, Banks and Public in General.

The Mississippi State Tax Commission, Mr. A. H. Stone, Chairman and his assistants throughout the state, wish to thank the entire public for the way in which the law governing the use and distribution of the sales tax tokens was received. Little if any adverse comment was heard anywhere.

Especially do they wish to thank the newspapers of the state for the favorable publicity given, and the banks for their cooperation in distributing the sales tax tokens to the various merchants.

The tokens were put into circulation on Wednesday, July First and although some few shoppers were confused at first all seem to understand the system very well by now.

The idea of the sales tax tokens is to "pass the tax on" to the consumer and prohibiting the merchant from absorbing the tax, as had been the custom so often in the past, thereby causing unfair competition.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE POPULAR

Games Becoming More and More Interesting—Public Receives Real Entertainment

In the Soft Ball League the wheel of fortune continues to go around and around, and where it will stop, no one seems to know. The Mobile Express carried the freight wheel when they hauled the Clerks around for a trimming of 9 to 0. Cotton Collier pitched well and allowed the Clerks four scattered hits. Joe Loiacano was the individual star of this game when he made two sensational catches in left field and then climaxed this with a perfect night at bat, three hits and three runs were registered for his three trips to the plate.

The Shell Oil had to use their Super Shell products to beat the Mid-City Stars. The game was won in the last inning with the score ending 11 to 10. The Mid-City Stars showed a marked improvement over their last appearance, and will be heard from before the season is over. Tom Monti, Jr., showed real class on first base. For the Shell Bobby Camors made four hits out of four times up, and scored three runs. His double in the 8th paved the way for the Shell victory. This game was an extra inning affair.

The Knights of Columbus made it two out of three when they won from the Cedar Point Stars 10 to 4. Tudury struck out five and held the Stars under control until the last inning. Leo Blaize did the best hitting for the Knights when he got three out of four and scored two runs. Red Favre and Wop Glover continue to lead the Knights in hitting with an average of .666.

The Racketeers were gunning for the Commissioners Monday night, and true to Racketeers' form they took the Politicians for a one way ride. The final score was 5 to 3. J. V. Bontemps held the Commissioners to 3 scattered hits, while his teammates made 8 safeties off the offerings of Grady Perkins. Grady struck out 4 men, but his team could do nothing with the stick. This was one of the best games of the season. In this game Coco Cady led with three hits out of four times up.

Trim Y. M. H. A.
Sunday July 5th the All-Star team played the Y. M. H. A. of New Orleans. The All-Stars won by a margin of one run. Nolan was best at bat with four out of four. Theo went the route for the All-Stars while Pallet did the hurling for the Hebrews. It was a hotly contested game, with the outcome doubtful until the very last play when Tudury doubled to score Cady and then on the overthrow he came in on all fours.

Coming Games
Friday night, July 10th. The Mid-City Stars meet the strong Mobile Express. The same night the Clerks will try to shove the Shell out of first place.

Monday night, July 13th. The Knights meet the Clerks; the second game will be between the Commissioners and the Mid-City Stars. These games will be very interesting.

Standing of the League

Team	Won	Lost
Shell Oil	2	0
Knights of Columbus	2	1
Commissioners	2	1
Racketeers	2	1
Mobile Express	1	1

POLITICAL VIEWS AND REVIEWS

Weekly Political News and Comment by Our Correspondent
JAMES B. GIBSON
Jackson, Miss.

Session Delayed

APPARENTLY yielding to requests from several quarters to delay the extraordinary session of the legislature until after the congressional primary next month, Governor White has announced that he will not convene the lawmakers "immediately." While the governor will not commit himself on the proposition of delaying the meeting until after the primary, he has said that it will not be called "within the next three weeks" and that is taken to mean that it will not come until after the primary. The chief business of the session will be to consider the governor's proposal to liberalize the state's bond laws affecting local governments so that such governments may issue bonds to acquire sites and plants for new industries.

Bilbo Whetting Axe

Junior Senator Bilbo is understood to be whetting his old chopping ax preparatory to wading into the senatorial campaign between Pat Harrison and Mike Conner in behalf of the latter. So far as can be learned Bilbo is planning to take the stump July 17 at Houston and there is every indication that his speech there will be the signal for the campaign to reach that degree of white heat that has been promised these last two weeks. In fact, the contest gives every evidence at this time of being headed in that general direction and old-time political servers are getting themselves all set for one of the most bitter campaigns since the Vardaman-Percy bout in 1911. One outstanding indication of the heat that may be expected is the Conner-Bilbo charge (admitted by Harrison) that Harrison put his campaign manager, Judge N. R. Sledge, on the payroll of the senate finance committee just four days after Sledge resigned as chancellor to manage the Harrison campaign. Harrison replied by revealing that Mrs. Lula Wimberly, long-time secretary to Bilbo, was put on the Harrison payroll months before Bilbo took the oath as senator.

Taken Confusion

The new sales tax tokens have become pretty thoroughly distributed throughout the state with the aid of some 200 banks, but the tax commission finds that 10 million of the things is hardly enough. So the commission has decided to get another five million so there will be a plentiful supply. Tax commission experts declare that the inauguration of the token system of collection of the sales tax has been attended by a minimum of confusion and merchants tell of the good-natured impatience of the buying public. One of the chief troubles has been that the public, accustomed to paying the tax on sales of 20 cents and over, is finding it hard to remember that the tax must now be paid on smaller sales. Then, too, the public has evidenced a decided aversion to the little metal discs commonly known as "tin money." Incidentally, the one-mill tokens cost the state 62 cents per thousand more than their face value, but the state gets it back many times in "turn-over."

Rains Worth Much

Agricultural authorities declare that general rains which have fallen throughout the state during the past week have been worth millions of dollars to the farmers. In many sections corn and other crops had suffered severely from drought and the rains will not entirely compensate the farmers for their losses. But farm experts point out that a continuation of the drought for another week would have wrought havoc with many crops and would have damaged cotton considerably. The drought throughout most of the southern area of the country and in some portions of the middle west has caused grain and cotton markets to react sharply.

As a means of distributing money uniformly the bonus is hard to beat. The recent "pay-off" put a proportionate share of the money into every precinct in the country. Veterans have spent their money more or less freely but on the whole there has been little evidence of waste, at least in Mississippi.

A thoughtful motorist has it all figured out that during the period of constructing the state's highway system, Mississippians will travel mostly via detours. Okeh! Then when the paving is finished we can really appreciate it.

75,900 Children Receive School Lunches During One Week Period 1935-36

Jackson, Miss., July 8.—School lunches were served to more than 75,900 children daily during one two week period of the 1935-36 school year, reports by Mrs. Eva Burgess, state director of this project show. This number was at the peak time of the year.

The school lunch project began operation on November 15, 1935, and continued throughout the entire term. Although late in starting, once begun, the program was launched with enthusiasm and soon the undernourished youngsters were being served wholesome well balanced meals at the noon hour.

In some instances when the physical condition of the child warranted, milk and left over lunches were served between meals. Reports were made of gains in weight of as much as ten pounds in a two week period.

In addition to serving nourishing meals to the children, they were instructed in table etiquette which included returning thanks for their food. They were also instructed in aiding the lunch room managers and attendants in clearing the table and doing other light chores.

More than 8,565,790 meals were served to children during the short time the project was in operation. In some counties where public donations of commodities were liberal, the meals were served at a cost as low as two cents. The counties of Yazoo, Holmes, and Humphreys were outstanding in this, meals being served at a cost of less than two cents.

Value of public donations totaled $55,928.41. Value of foods allotted by the WPA $367,650.00. The project operated several weeks during 1935 without benefit of surplus commodities and WPA funds for purchase of foodstuff and was altogether dependent upon public donations for its existence.

As average cost per child was approximately $1.51 for a twenty day school month. This included a half pint bottle of sweet milk, which cost as much as five cents in some localities.

Surplus commodities were donated by the WPA in the amounts as follows: Canned beef 330,790 pounds; canned beef soup 138,547 pounds; fresh apples 151,305 pounds; dried beans 247 pounds; eggs 88 dozen; oatmeal 3,672 pounds; flour 24,170 pounds; dried skim milk 19,294; dried peas 3,174; prunes 20,660; canned peaches 48,291; canned fruit 30,107; canned veal 108.

The explanation is that he will devote his time to the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee and the President's re-election campaign.

OPPOSES CLOSED SHOP
Announcement by the American Iron and Steel Institute that it will use all of its resources to oppose closed shop indicates serious trouble ahead in view of the fact that union organizers are campaigning in leading steel centers.

The general expectation is that strikes in major industries are inevitable. Attempts to organize the steel, automobile and rubber industries will probably lead to real conflicts.

"UNDER TWO FLAGS" IS STAR-FILED FILM AT A. & G. THEATER

Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert Leading Stars—Mightiest Spectacle Drama

Four great stars, a cast of ten thousand, and a story that flames with the intensity of Sahara's burning sands, bring one of the mightiest spectacle-dramas of motion picture history to the screen in 20th Century's "Under Two Flags," at the A. & G. Theater Sunday and Monday of this week.

Topping the star-studded story of flaming love and smoldering rebellion are Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen and Rosalind Russell, who lead a supporting cast of forty character stars and numberless extras.

The setting of the story is a sun-baked post of empire on the edge of the Sahara. McLaglen is the hard-bitten commander of a battalion of Legionnaires and his outstanding soldier is Ronald Colman. McLaglen is the slave of the tantalizing "Cigarette," played by Miss Colbert. When he discovers that she has given her heart to Colman, he comes to hate his subordinate.

Colman, however, falls madly in love with the beautiful Rosalind Russell. Sent to a fortress in the heart of Arab territory, McLaglen persists in putting Colman in peril of danger, hoping that his death will remove the obstacle between himself and Miss Colbert. He recants of his deed, and goes to Colman's rescue.

Just as the entire force seems doomed, Miss Colbert leads reinforcements of legionnaires to their rescue, giving her life to send the man she loves back to another woman.

The supporting cast is filled with such superlative performers as Gregory Ratoff, Nigel Bruce, C. Henry Gordon, Herbert Mundin and J. Edward Bromberg, star of the New York stage making his film debut. Personally produced by Darryl F. Zanuck, "Under Two Flags" was directed by Frank Lloyd.

Three Great Kitchens Feed Tremendous Crowd
When 20th Century-Fox took thousands of extras out to the Arizona desert to film "Under Two Flags" the studio knew that it would have a problem on its hand in feeding this horde.

As a consequence, the studio hired the Anderson Brothers, the concern that fed the laborers on the Boulder Dam project. They set up three massive kitchens and dining halls where everyone from Ronald Colman, Claudette Colbert, Victor McLaglen and Rosalind Russell down to the horse wranglers were lavishly fed.

Seventy-six days of this kind of work was necessary to bring to the screen the spectacle, stirring drama and tender romance of Ouida's famous story.

BY THE RIVER

I sat beside the river still,
Gazing upon its breast;
A flood of thoughts came at their will
Within my heart to nest.

I looked upon its mirror fair,
And saw life in its hand;
It seemed as tho' it held a share,
Of treasures in the land.

It gurgled softly in my ear,
A little song of peace;
It made the world so bright appear,
Its voice should never cease.

I lay me down, close by its side,
To sleep, to think and dream;
I longed to float upon its tide,
Forever with the stream.

FOUR MILLION FOR ROADS AVAILABLE IN MISSISSIPPI

United States Bureau of Roads Reports on Mississippi Allotments

Washington, July 6.—The United States Bureau of Roads reported today that Mississippi had nearly $4,000,000 of federal funds as of June 1 available for new road and grade crossing elimination projects.

That sum was the remainder of a total of $19,414,453 apportioned to the state for federal highway aid public works program road construction, works relief road construction, and grade crossing elimination during the past two years.

The public works road funds totaling $10,518,902 under acts of 1934 and 1935 have been set aside for work done, under construction or approved for construction except for a balance of $126,448 which is available for new projects.

The federal aid apportionment for 1936 totaling $2,196,524 has not been taken up, and remains available for the state for the state's newly launched highway program.

Under the public works program allotments, the bureau's figures showed that up to June 1, a total of 664.2 miles of road projects had been completed, 79.7 were under construction and 1.3 miles had been approved for construction.

Under the emergency relief road allotment, the report showed that 2.8 miles of road had been completed, 166.8 miles were under construction and 38.4 miles approved for construction.

No grade crossing elimination projects had been completed up to June 1, but 34 were under construction and eight had been approved for construction. An apportionment of $3,241,475 was made for this work under the emergency relief act of 1935 and a balance of $1,247,102 remained available for new projects.

GOOD PASTURES CONTROL EROSION; PRODUCE CHEAP FEED

Cattle get plenty of exercise but produce little meat and milk from worn oars, pasture, according to C. B. Anderson, state coordinator of the Soil Conservation Service in Mississippi.

Properly managed pastures control erosion on sloping fields and produce the cheapest of all livestock feeds. Overgrazing damages the pasture soil and may start washing of the soil.

Good permanent pastures prevent losses of topsoil and the formation of gullies. Together with trees they represent the only natural and income-producing means for protecting slopes too steep for the production of clean-cultivated crops.

If you want to produce the maximum of grazing from your pasture and protect the soil from washing away, Anders suggests these timely pasture hints should be observed; do not graze heavily in dry seasons; mow the weeds and shrubs that use plant food and moisture; let new seedlings make a good top growth before grazing; plant temporary pastures of Sudan grass, soybeans, cowpeas, etc., to tide the livestock over the entire season.

TO TEST LAWS

Court fights against recent legislation are indicated by the attack on the Railroad Retirement Act, which involves the same constitutional principals as the Social Security Act. Moreover, Government lawyers are working on a defense for the new tax law, and the new government contract law. All of these, it is expected, will be tested soon by legal proceedings.

Farm incomes rose 58 per cent under the AAA, Davis reports.

Special Session Not To Be Called For Three Weeks

Jackson, July 6.—Governor Hugh White declined to say today when he would issue a call for an extraordinary session of the state legislature to enact his proposed industrial program, and to amend the present highway revenue bond act. The governor said he was "not yet ready to comment" on the proposed special session.

In reply to direct queries, he said, however, that the call would not be issued "for at least three weeks."

It has been reported that the governor may defer calling the special session until after the party primaries occurring August 25, and the second three weeks later.

The governor indicated that he was "marking time" on his industrial program plans.

The chief executive said he had not yet named the five members to be appointed by him to serve as the industrial commission.

He said his selections would not be made until after the legislative session has been called.

Chamber of commerce secretaries and the state press association have already named 10 members of this committee from their numbers.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

If any of you are as hot as I am this minute, you'll welcome a cool drink. Cold drinks, such as iced tea, any iced fruit juices and iced chocolate are most refreshing and beneficial. The modern housekeeper should have on hand the ingredients to make a cooling drink at a minute's notice. Be sure that the chilled drink is appealing to the eye as well as to the palate. Try some of these drinks on your thirsty friends.

Fruited Tea

2 tablespoons black tea
1 large can sliced pineapple
3 lemons
3 oranges
2 cups sugar

Steep the tea in 2 cups boiling water. Strain, add the sugar, mix well and cool. Add the lemon juice and orange juice to the tea. Boil the lemon and orange rinds for 15 minutes in enough water to cover them. Strain, cool and add to the tea. Add the pineapple juice. Strain all through a double thickness of cheesecloth until clear. Cut the pineapple in small pieces and add to the tea. Chill thoroughly. Add cherry ice cubes when ready to serve.

Spiced Lemonade

Iced Mint Cocoa

Cook together for 5 minutes, 1/2 cup sugar, 6 tablespoons of cocoa and 1 cup of boiling water. Add 3 sprays of fresh mint, crushed, and 5 cups of scalded milk. Cook over hot water for a few minutes, then strain, chill, add 1/2 teaspoon of vanilla and serve over crushed ice. Top each glass with a spoonful of whipped cream and a mint leaf.

Ginger Ale Fizz

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 cup grape juice
4 tablespoons lime juice
Ginger ale—ice cubes.

Boil for 3 minutes the sugar and water. Chill, combine with grape juice and divide the mixture into 6 glasses and just before serving fill in with chilled ginger ale.

More MEN and WOMEN to SERVE You

TWELVE HUNDRED additional people were put to work by the Southern Bell Telephone Company in 1935, to care for the increased public demand for service and the resultant growth of the business.

This was an increase of 8.12 per cent, and brought the total number of men and women who provide you with good telephone service in the South to 17,000.

Their payroll was nineteen and one-third million dollars, most of which was spent in their home communities.

Through 936 central offices in nine states, they devote their thought and effort to give you the best possible telephone service that skill and training can provide.

They planned and placed in service $12,428,906 worth of additional telephone "plant" in 1935 to meet service demands, and this year it will expand even more.

Taxes, in 1935, required a record sum of $6,505,000 from the telephone company by federal, state, county and municipal agencies. This figure, too, will be exceeded in 1936.

Guiding these telephone folks at all times, in fair weather or in emergencies such as fire, floods or storms, is their expressed objective: to give the public the best possible service at the lowest cost consistent with the financial safety of the business.

"Know Mississippi Better" Train Will Leave From Jackson, July 20th.

An intimate knowledge of the picturesque and historic far west will be available to personnel of the Twelfth Annual Tour of the "Know Mississippi Better" Train, which leaves Jackson July 20, for a 7,000 mile journey which will include 35 cities in eleven states, and four Provinces of Canada.

A portion of the 1936 tour will revisit scenes familiar to the personnel of the tour of eight years ago. At that time, when the "Know Mississippi Better" Train arrived at Mandan, N. Dak., it was greeted by a large band of full blooded Sioux Indians. Among the number were three very old braves, each of whom had participated in the battle on the Big Horn River in which General Custer and all members of his command were massacred. Too proud to learn the English language, these old men could speak only the tongue of the Sioux, but through an interpreter told the story of that most disastrous defeat suffered by white settlers in the century or more of conflict with American Indians.

Eight years ago in an elaborate ceremony, J. Ed Ruff of the Extension Department of Mississippi State College, was adopted into and made a full member of the Sioux tribe. This year the Sioux tribe in full regalia will be present and waiting when the "Know Mississippi Better" Train arrives at Mandan, and again some member of the party will be initiated into full tribal membership.

For the first time on any of its western trips, the "Know Mississippi Better" train will visit Yellowstone National Park, and a special program has been arranged so that within this short time a very large portion of the Park may be seen by Mississippians.

The "Know Mississippi Better" Train is a non-profit organization, which, since its organization at a mass meeting called by Governor Whitfield twelve years ago, has carried more than a thousand loyal sons and daughters and the story of Mississippi's opportunities and possibilities throughout the United States and into considerable portions of Canada and Mexico. The special train, the largest pullman special in the world, is made up of exhibit cars, dining, office and observation cars, and about nine pullman cars. It is an all-expense trip costing $185.00.

Former Governor Dennis Murphy, Jackson, Mississippi, is general chairman of the executive committee of the "Know Mississippi Better" Train, and reports that within more than 120 reservations in hand, the party this year may reach the maximum number of 150.
